FRICK AN AUTOCRAT.

So Says Representative Oates
in His Report

ON THE HOMESTEAD TROUBLE.

He Says Pinkerton Captives Were Treated by Women in a Shockingly Un-American Fashion—Sunday at Homestead.
Troops Returning Home—The Locked-
Out Men Still Confident of Winning.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Mr. Oates, chairman of the sub-committee of the house which investigated the labor troubles at Homestead, submitted a report to the committee, which was not agreed to. No member questioned its correctness, its statements of facts or conclusions of law, but the Republican members of the committee would not assent to what he said upon the tariff, and a majority of the Democratic members of the committee thought it impolitic to make any report until the entire investigation was completed, which could not be done before the second session of congress. Therefore a postponement of the report was made until next winter.

The report prepared by Mr. Oates having been rejected by the committee, he has given it to the public as his individual opinion of the matters investigated. The report begins with statement of the movements of the sub-committee, followed by a description of the works at Homestead, the number of employees, the rate of wages, the negotiations between the company and the Amalgamated association preceding the outbreak, the contentions of both sides, and finally an account of the disastrous ending of the attempt to land the Pinkertons.

The report says that the Pinkertons who surrendered were brutally and outrageously treated, principally by women and boys, and Oates is loath to believe that any of these women are native Americans. He says that the indignities to which they were subjected was a disgrace to civilization. Mr. Oates asks whether the Carnegie firm was justified in equity and good conscience in proposing the reduction in wages. "I answer," he says, "that Mr. Frick declined to state the cost of a ton of Bessemer steel billets and the labor cost. The men were paid satisfactory wages, but the work much abbreviates the natural period of life, and should be well paid for."

He thinks that the company should have some of the benefits of the profits resulting from the use of improved machinery. He condemns the McKinley law for its failure to benefit American workmen, and says the promises made to the operatives have been disappointing.

"Had Mr. Frick stated the bottom facts to the committee," said Mr. Oates, "it would have agreed that the proposition to reduce wages was justifiable, but they took issue with him in his conclusion that the tariff did not cause a decline in prices."

Mr. Oates finds further that the conduct of the company toward its employees was kind in many respects. It loaned them money at low interest to build them homes, and never foreclosed mortgages; but in the negotiation the officers did not exercise patience, indulgence and solicitude; and Mr. Frick, according to the report, who is a business man of great intelligence, seems to have been too stern, brusque and somewhat autocratic.

Mr. Oates is pursued that if Mr. Frick had appealed to the reason of the employees and shown them the state of the company's affairs the reduction might have been made and no trouble have followed.

Mr. Oates finds that the Pennsylvania law contains nothing to prevent Mr. Frick from employing Pinkerton men as watchmen at Homestead, but says that under the circumstances he should not have done so. He made overtures to the Pinkertons before the negotiations with the men were interrupted, and did not appeal to the county or state authorities in the first instance for protection. He asserts that Sheriff McCleary is a very inefficient officer, but says that had Mr. Frick aided him and joined in his appeal to the governor, instead of employing Pinkertons, the state would have furnished a sufficient force to have protected the property.

Mr. Oates condemns as unlawful the acts of the workmen in turning away the sheriff, and insulting, by hanging in effigy, Messrs. Frick and Potter. He says it was the purpose of the Amalgamated association to prevent the employment of non-union men, and he declares that no organization has a right to enforce its wishes by strong-handed defiance of law. The men had no legal right to resist the coming of the Pinkertons, and are answerable to the Pennsylvania courts.

In conclusion, Mr. Oates finds that congress has no power over the questions involved. The enactment of a satisfactory arbitration law is well nigh impossible. As to whether congress has the power to regulate or suppress Pinkertonism, Mr. Oates says he has no conclusion to express until the completion of the investigation next session.

SUNDAY AT HOMESTEAD.

The Locked-Out Men Confident of Winning the Fight.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Aug. 8.—Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, was in Homestead yesterday. He was in conference with the leaders of the Homestead strike for several hours at the conclusion of which he departed for New York. He refused to talk for publication but it is understood he assured the local lodge of the Amalgamated association that the 700,000 members of the Federation were in line and that the full power of the organization will be brought to bear in behalf of the Homestead steel workers, and that every member will contribute to a fund for the benefit of the strikers.

The Federation, according to Mr. Gompers, will also assist in carrying out the boycott on all material manufactured by the Carnegie Steel company. The Knights of Labor, too, have fallen into line and the men here feel greatly encouraged. Vice Chairman Crawford, of the advisory board, stated yesterday evening that applications for machinists are coming in from all parts of the United States and that quite a number of mechanics who came out on strike have thus found employment in union mills elsewhere.

Fully 2,000 members of the national guard were sent home yesterday evening. Battery B will go today, while the Fifth regiment will, in all probability, depart for home Tuesday.

Chaplain Adams, of the Sixteenth regiment, conducted religious services inside the mill Sunday morning. He delivered a sermon from a pulpit constructed of armor plate in the beam mill. His text was Romans xiii, 1: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher power, for there is no power but of God; powers that be are ordained of God." The sermon was of a patriotic nature throughout. Patriotic hymns were used in the opening and closing exercises.

Won't Sign the Scale.

BELLAIRE, O., Aug. 8.—The Bellaire nail works have not signed the Amalgamated association scale. The workmen expected the company to shut down only ten days, but the works have been idle six weeks. There is no trouble regarding wages, but the company intends to settle other grievances with the men before signing the scale.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

It Has Practically Begun With Headquarters at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—During the next three months the headquarters of the congressional campaign committees in this city will be held in constant touch with the movements of both parties in every congressional district in the country. A feeling of uncertainty as to the outcome will make hard work necessary, and the celerity with which senators and members have already left the city to participate in the campaign plainly indicates that there will be no lack of shoulders to carry the burden. In many of the districts the campaign has already begun.

Both of the congressional committees are pleasantly located, the Republicans in the old United Service club house and the Democrats in the loan and trust building. These headquarters will be the shipping points of tons and tons of campaign literature. A Democratic campaign book has already made its appearance.

It is a compact little volume of sixty-four pages, with a cover illuminated in red, white and blue, and with a defiant eagle, a brilliant flag, and a handsome representation of a ship of the new navy conspicuous upon it.

It is mainly devoted to the tariff, but the federal election bill and the alleged attendance of office holders at the Minneapolis convention are mentioned. The compilation of the volume, which is merely a Democratic primer to precede the larger campaign book, is mainly the work of Representative Bynum.

Frightful Measures of Revenge.

WYANDOTTE, Mich., Aug. 8.—Angered by a long series of insults from his fellow workmen, Herbert Gault, a laborer in the rolling mill here, Saturday afternoon sought revenge on John Langston, the chief of his persecutors, by pouring a dipper of boiling hot metal over his limbs, burning them frightfully and causing undoubtedly fatal injuries. Gault is a man of powerful physique, but has a deformity of his left leg that causes him to walk with a limp. His fellow workmen have lately made him the butt of their jokes, owing to his deformity. Gault has been locked up.

Ran Down by an Electric Car.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—Mr. George Sealey, residing on Walnut Hills, together with his wife and a neighbor's little four-year-old girl, Elsie Cooke, went out riding Saturday afternoon.

While attempting to cross the Mt. Auburn electric railway near the Zoological gardens their buggy was run down by an electric car and the little girl was instantly killed and Mrs. Sealey so badly injured that she died one hour afterward.

The motorman, Samuel Nokes, was arrested, charged with manslaughter, but admitted to bail. There will be no prosecution.

Train Robbers Still at Large.

VISALIA, Cal., Aug. 8.—This town is still wildly excited over the last two day's battles with the train robbers. Nearly every able-bodied man has joined the sheriff's posse and are out hunting for Evans and Sontag. Those who know the mountain country back of Visalia say that Evans is pretty sure to get away as he can travel forty miles a day with ease, and he knows every trail and canyon. Feeling against the robbers is so bitter that it is almost certain they will be lynched if caught.

Five Buildings Burned.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 8.—The five building composing the Tygard manufacturing company's general planning and buggy factory, with all the machinery, a large lot of lumber and several buggies, were totally destroyed by an incendiary fire at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Loss $25,000; insurance $6,000. The company purchased all the house building material for this section. This is the ninth incendiary fire here within eighteen months.

Cotton Consumed by Fire.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 8.—The Birrell cotton warehouse burned here Sunday afternoon. Two thousand bales of cotton and a vast quantity of linseed were destroyed. No lives were lost. The property was fully insured.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Thousands Gathering Into Colorado's Capital.

TAKING THE CITY BY STORM.

Fifty Thousand Transient People Already in the City and Arriving at the Rate of a Thousand an Hour—Preparing for the Great Parade.

DENVER, Aug. 8.—Colorado is filled with Knights Templar. The mountains and the valleys, the pleasure resorts, the famous scenes, the growing camps, are over-crowded and the railroad beds leading to Denver are groaning under their weight. They are being rushed into this city at the rate of 1,000 an hour. Fifty thousand will arrive to-day. There are fully 50,000 transient people in the city already.

MASONIC TEMPLE AT DENVER, COLO.

IRON HALL AFFAIRS.

Accounts of Somerby All Right So Far as They Have Been Examined.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 8.—A commotion was created in Iron Hall circles Saturday when it was announced that F. D. Somerby, supreme justice, had left the city. At a meeting of the executive committee in the morning, Somerby did not show up. A meeting was to have been held at Haughville, a suburb of Indianapolis, Saturday night, by members of the local lodges, to testify their confidence in the order and its much maligned head. It was advertised that Somerby would be present and make a speech. Late in the afternoon word was sent to Haughville that Somerby could not be present, and the meeting was adjourned.

Inquiry at Iron Hall headquarters yielded nothing satisfactory in explanation. Supreme Cashier Davis and Supreme Accountant Walker shook their heads dubiously, but their answers were evasive. Their manner was such as to encourage the worst possible construction that could have been put upon Somerby's absence, and the impression gained ground and the rumor became current that the supreme justice was a fugitive.

Late in the evening one of Somerby's attorneys vouched for it upon his honor that the absence of the supreme justice meant nothing serious, and that he would be back by Monday, or Tuesday at the latest. It was stated that Somerby had gone east by the advice and with the consent of his attorneys, and that his trip was connected with the settlement of existing difficulties. The supposition is that he had gone to Philadelphia. This assurance had a tendency to allay suspicion and restore confidence.

A feature that has excited a good deal of quiet but emphatic comment was the effort of Davis and Walker by indirection to give the impression that Somerby had absconded. The effect of it is to strengthen and confirm an impression that has been growing all along that these two officials would be glad to disclose such a condition in the order as would lead to Somerby's decapitation, thus opening up the way for their advancement.

Denver is only beginning to exert itself in order to take care of the throngs that will arrive in the next two days. The transformation did not come as a surprise and while the streets are crowded in the main thoroughfares and all the hotels have been retained, there is no uneasiness as to the care of the influx. Before 6 o'clock this morning the depot and its approaches were all astir and everything was bustle. From all parts of the city the populace floated to greet the pilgrims; some of whom were needy and sore.

The incoming commanderies were first escorted to the reception quarters. There the strangers were received with courtly welcome and were handed over to the escort that preceded them to their headquarters with a band of music leading the way.

The entire day will be occupied solely in the reception of the visitors.

Yesterday in Colorado Springs and at Manitou thousands of the visitors congregated, and when they reached Denver last night it was with all the pleasant impressions which are derived from the view of nature's grandest handiwork and most beautiful conceits.

Dinner services were held at Colorado Springs yesterday, attended by Grand Master Gobind and his escort. Bishop Leighton Coleman, grand prelate of the grand encampment, officiated in the afternoon services held in the Garden of the Gods.

On Tuesday morning the most magnificent pageant which ever passed through the streets of any western city will be observed in Denver, over 30,000 Knights Templar marching as an escort to the officers and members of the grand encampment to the Masonic temple.

Immediately upon the dismissal of the parade, the grand encampment will commence its session in the banquet hall of the temple, which has been beautifully decorated and converted into an admirable asylum for the 300 or more grand officers, grand commanders and past grand commanders, who constitute that body.

On Wednesday forenoon will occur the prize drill, under the auspices of the chamber of commerce at River-front park.

On Thursday forenoon the exhibition drill, directed by the Knights Templars themselves, at Overland park.

The conclave is essentially a social event, however, and the immense gathering from every state in the Union, as well as from Canada, and really owes its popularity and success to the fact that the Knights Templar get all the fun out of it they can. All things are auspicious for the splendid fulfillment of every expectation connected with the conclave. The weather promises to be typical Colorado weather as near perfection as the world affords.

The two liveliest bodies in town, if it be possible to distinguish in such a gay throng, are the Boston and San Francisco delegations. Grand Master Gobind displayed his extreme modesty by coming in before and quietly seeking his hotel. A special squad had been detailed to meet and escort him to the hotel. His presence was not discovered until he had reached his headquarters at the Brown.

PECULIAR WEAPON OF DEATH.

A Friendless, Homeless Man Blows Out His Brains With a Barrel Faucet.

LONDON, O., Aug. 6.—Quite a sensation was produced here Saturday by the announcement that John Nicholson, of South Toland street, had committed suicide. His method of killing himself was extremely tragic, as he filled a barrel faucet with powder and bullets, and placing it against his left temple fired it off by igniting a string attached as a fuse, blowing off the entire top of his head.

Mr. Nicholson was eighty-nine years of age, and the deed was caused by the prospect of separation from his wife. Her son by a former marriage, Clarence Peffers, had persuaded her to leave her husband, as he is extremely poor and unable to support her, and accompany him to his home in Washington C. H. The time set for her departure was Saturday, and rather than be left to the county infirmary, the homeless old man took his own life.

Five Buildings Burned.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 8.—The five building composing the Tygard manufacturing company's general planning and buggy factory, with all the machinery, a large lot of lumber and several buggies, were totally destroyed by an incendiary fire at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Loss $25,000; insurance $6,000. The company purchased all the house building material for this section. This is the ninth incendiary fire here within eighteen months.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 8.—The Birrell cotton warehouse burned here Sunday afternoon. Two thousand bales of cotton and a vast quantity of linseed were destroyed. No lives were lost. The property was fully insured.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS

Serious Collision of Two Trains in West Brooklyn.

BOTH LOADED WITH PEOPLE.

Eleven Cars of Passengers Badly Shaken Up and Fifteen or Twenty Severely Injured—Collision on the Lake Shore at Ligonier, Indiana—Other Railroad Accidents.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 8.—A serious accident occurred on the Brooklyn, Bath and West End railroad, yesterday evening at West Brooklyn. Six heavily loaded cars crashed into five others equally as heavily loaded. The force of the collision threw the passengers from their seats, some falling from the open sides to the track and a frightful panic ensued among the thousand passengers on board who were bound to Coney Island. People climbed out of the cars, indiscriminately treading upon one another, and women screamed while children cried.

Fifteen or twenty persons were severely injured, some from being jammed in the panic and others from being thrown from the cars by the force of the collision.

George Eckstein, of 907 Bushwick avenue, Brooklyn, fell to the track, breaking his leg below the knee and cutting a gash in his wrist.

Miss Annie Kearney, 119 Twenty-ninth street, South Brooklyn, sustained severe gashes on face and forehead and slit the right vestral to the depth of an inch.

Herman Willinski, 92 Fourteenth street, cut on forehead and arm scraped clean of flesh.

George Wilhelm, forehead severely gashed.

August Bodin, 338 Franklin avenue, Brooklyn, forehead and face gashed.

This is the third accident on the road within a fortnight.

COLLISION ON A CURVE.

A Limited Train Runs Into a Light Engine and One Man Seriously Hurt.

LIGONIER, Ind., Aug. 8.—The New York and Chicago limited train on the Lake Shore road was wrecked here at 9:05 o'clock Saturday night by colliding with a light engine on the curve east of the station. Both engines were reversed and the airbrakes on the limited were already set when the collision occurred.

The engineer, Charles Schuler, of Elkhart, had his left leg broken and his foot crushed, and sustained other injuries which may prove fatal. His engine was thrown upon its side, but none of the coaches left the track. The passengers were badly shaken up, but no one was seriously injured.

Thirty Cars Wrecked.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Aug. 8.—A freight train of forty cars on the C. L. and W. railway loaded with stone and ore, running at the rate of thirty miles per hour, was wrecked near the station in this city, Saturday afternoon, by the spreading of a rail. Thirty of the cars were demolished, and the track for a long distance was torn up.

Engineer Killed in a Wreck.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 8.—A passenger train on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad was wrecked Saturday at Witt's foundry. Engineer Bob Bogart was killed, but no one else was injured.

The lack of interest in that stove factory project is astonishing. A little work would secure the enterprise.

REPUBLICAN papers say the Force bill is dead. Well, it ought to be buried, and Cleveland's election will put it out of sight forever.

THE Philadelphia Times (Ind.) says
the speech of Grover Cleveland, at Madison Square Garden, "is a platform broad enough for all true Americans."

WHEN a Republican claims that a high tariff insures high wages, just ask him to compare wages in the high tariff countries of Europe with wages in free trade England.

ONE thing was demonstrated by the investigation at Homestead, and that was that the mass of the employees there get 60 cents a day less than is paid the streetsweepers in New York. This was brought out by Mr. Frick's own testimony.

THAT Alliance and Republican combine in Alabama counted on carrying the State by not less than 50,000 majority. No wonder Kolb and his crowd are dis-pointed. The straight-out true-blue Democrats have a majority of 25,000, according to latest returns.

SOME people are color-blind and can't distinguish red from blue. Figuratively speaking, many Maysville people are color-blind and can't realize the great benefit an industry employing seventy-five skilled men would bring to the city and to themselves. Wake up and secure that stove factory.

"IN 1870 there was not a negro child in the public schools of Atlanta. To-day there are nearly 2,500 in the grammar schools, the schools being supported chiefly by the taxes voluntarily imposed by the white people upon their own property." Who are the negro's real friends? The Democrats of the South or the Republicans of the North?

THE New York Tribune speaks of the "poor British workmen" and "his pitiable condition." These "protection" frauds should save some of their sympathy for the poor workmen of this country. We can direct the Tribune to several hundred whose condition is about as pitiable as can be found anywhere, and the Tribune won't have to cross the Atlantic to find them.

THE Philadelphia Ledger says "the inventors of false news" are as pestiferous as the anarchists and should be put in the same class and punished with them. There are several of these "inventors" working their "machines" within a radius of one hundred miles about Cincinnati, and the Cincinnati papers pay them right along for the "stuff" they grind out.

ACCORDING to the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 was expended in sugar bounties last year. The Republican party has a patent on this method of cheaper sugar. Take the tariff off of sugar to cheapen it, and then tax the people $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 and give this immense sum to a few cane-growers and sugar makers in Louisiana. Rob the masses for the benefit of the classes, is the motto of the G. O. P.

CRAP-SHOOTERS will likely give Ruggles camp meeting a wide berth hereafter. A party of seven, most of them from Maysville, opened out a game there yesterday afternoon and the officers swooped down on them and captured the entire lay-out, players and all. The offenders will likely be taught a lesson they won't soon forget.

A WOMAN not a thousand miles from Richmond was, without doubt, the most flurried female (last Sunday) in seven counties when she discovered, after coming out of church, that her brand new hat was adorned with a tag, whereon was inscribed the legend: "Reduced to $2.75."—Richmond Review.

AS THIS eastbound F. F. V. was coming into Augusta last night some miscreant hurled a rock through one of the windows of the day coach, smashing the glass into a thousand pieces. Fortunately the missile struck the upper part of the glass and was stopped by the blinds. None of the passengers were hurt. This is the fourth or fifth time trains have been rocked at that point of late, and if the parties are caught they will be given a free ride to Frankfort. Detective Fitzgerald is at work on the case.

SUIT has been filed at Covington against the King Bridge Company and others for $50,000 damages for killing Charles Gresham. Gresham is one of the many unfortunate who lost their lives in the recent Licking bridge disaster. Gresham was a cousin of United States Judge Gresham. The petition charges the bridge company with neglect in putting up the false structure. Mrs. MARY GILL died Sunday at 11 a. m. at the home of her husband, Mr. Patrick Gill, of consumption. She was fifty-two years of age. Her husband, three sons and one daughter survive her. Funeral at St. Patrick's Church at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Burial at Washington.

A CERTAIN Maysville minister was called on last week to preach the funeral of a little child. When he reached the door of the home, he was informed for the first time that the little one had died of diphtheria. The room in which the remains lay was crowded with people, young and old, and the coffin was open, exposing all to the risk of catching this dread disease. It looks like the Board of Health should establish some regulations to prevent the spread of such diseases.

BERT HARRISON who was arrested at Ruggles Friday on charge of stealing a horse from Dr. Irvin, of Tollesboro, has been lodged in jail at Vanceburg. It turns out that Harrison took the horse to Morgan County where he traded it for a two-year-old colt, which was found in his possession when he was arrested. The owners of the colt were in town last night, having tracked Harrison as far as Flemingsburg, where they lost the trail. They left for Ruggles this morning. Harrison hails from Iowa.

DR. RICHARD, who shot and killed John W. Samuels at Mt. Sterling not long since, has become violently insane, it is said, and is now in an asylum in Missouri. The trouble grew out of some remark Richard made concerning the wife of Samuels. About a week after the killing the doctor met two of Samuels' little children on the street. "There goes the man that killed our papa," said one of the little ones to the other and both burst out crying and in an affrighted manner ran as fast as their little legs could carry them away from the man who had made their home desolate. The doctor told his wife about the incident that night, and said that he could not stay in Mt. Sterling and have little children running from him because he had killed Samuels. Accordingly, he left a good practice and with his family moved to a small town in Missouri.

The Color of Chameleons.

As chameleons become tame they change color less rapidly, showing the habit is protective and to render itself less conspicuous. Indeed the power of assuming the color of its surroundings is the only protection these helpless creatures possess. Mr. S. D. Baird informs me that he was watching a chameleon on a shrub when a wild bee or two came out of a nest close by, and immediately the chameleon doffed its bright green dress and became nearly black, and therefore inconspicuous. Their turning white at night may find reason in the predominance of shining foliage in the South African trees. The leaves of most trees and shrubs glisten under the bright stars and the moonlight and so appear white. A chameleon, without reasoning on cause and effect, sees bright white leaves and imitates them.—Cor. Forest and Stream.

THREAT CARRIED OUT.

A Woman Shot Down in the Street by Her Jealous Lover.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 8.—The jealous frenzy of a discarded lover led to a shocking tragedy in the suburbs of North Columbus Saturday night, and Mary Smith was instantly killed by a bullet from James Cannon's revolver. Cannon is a French Canadian, brickmaker, nineteen years old, and works for John Kiner, whose yard is in Clinton township. Mary Smith, the victim of his murderous hate, was the divorced wife of Isaac Showalter. She was thirty-three years old, and has a daughter of seventeen.

Her life has not always been above reproach, for at one time she lived as mistress with a penitentiary guard, and later was an inmate of a sporting house kept by the notorious Sallie Watts. Cannon has been a faithful worshiper at the shrine of Mary's slightly decayed beauty for some time, and his passion grew by what it fed upon until it aroused all the venom of his fiery nature to see her smile upon another than himself. They quarreled often and bitterly, and matters reached a crisis a week ago, when he threatened to kill her. That was because she had been receiving the attention of one James Cameron, also a brickyard worker.

Saturday afternoon Cannon learned that Mary was likely to visit the house where he was boarding, and he borrowed a savage-looking Smith & Wesson 38-caliber revolver of a fellow-boarder. Presently Mary came calmly walking up the road toward the house. She was wheeling a baby carriage, in which sat cooing in innocent glee the infant child of her sister. Cannon met her as she neared the house, and without a word of warning, shoved the revolver in her face and pulled the trigger. There was a blinding flash, almost in the prattling baby's face, and Mary fell to the ground a corpse, her lifeblood sprinkling its crimson stain upon the child's snowy linen.

The bullet entered just under the chin, ranged upward, and imbedded in the brain at the back of the head. He calmly surveyed his victim an instant, and then turned to walk away. Several of the boarders who, paralyzed with horror, had witnessed the awful scene, sprang forward, and the revolver was wrenched from his grasp. No effort was made to detain the murderer, and he coolly went into the house, pulled on his coat, and walked away. Cannon is clean-shaven, short and heavy set, wears dark trousers, striped coat, and no vest, and his clothing is stained with the peculiar brickyard dust.

A squad of police are searching the state fair grounds, where the murderer is thought to be concealed. He was seen by two gentlemen going in that direction, and it is supposed he is hiding in some of the empty buildings upon the grounds. A regular vigilance committee hunt has been organized in which the citizens are assisting.

MONETARY CONFERENCE.

The Names of Our Five Commissioners Have Been Announced.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The names of the five commissioners who are to represent the United States at the coming international monetary conference are officially announced. They are Senator William B. Allison, of Iowa; Senator John P. Jones, of Nevada; Congressman James B. McCreary, of Kentucky; ex-Comptroller Henry W. Cannon, of New York, and General Francis A. Walker, of Massachusetts. With the exception of Mr. McCreary these names have all been among those discussed for the appointment.

Senator Allison, of Iowa, has seen nearly twenty years' service in the United States senate and was eight years a member of the house, before his election to the senate. He is chairman of the committee on appropriations, a leading member of the committee on finance, and a recognized leader in financial matters. He voted against the Stewart free coinage bill when it passed the senate in July last.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, has been an earnest advocate of free silver. He has not spoken often in the senate but whenever he has spoken on finance in that body his remarks have always commanded close and earnest attention. He also is a member of the senate committee on finance.

Mr. McCreary succeeded Mr. Perry Belmont as chairman of the committee on foreign affairs in the house of representatives and has devoted considerable attention to international questions. He introduced the bill which called out the pan-American conference in Washington, and also the house bill providing for the present monetary conference. He voted in favor of free silver. Mr. McCreary is serving his fourth term in congress. He is, of course, a Democrat in politics.

Mr. Cannon succeeded Mr. John Jay Knox as United States comptroller of the currency and resigned to accept the presidency of the Chase National bank of New York. He is classed as opposed to free coinage of silver under existing conditions.

General Walker, of Massachusetts, is a well known writer on economic questions. He was superintendent of the tenth census and was a member of the international monetary conference held at Paris in 1878. He is president of the Massachusetts institute of Technology, president of the American Statistical society and honorary fellow of the Royal Statistical society of London.

The place of meeting of the conference is not yet definitely decided upon. It will be in one of the capitals of Europe—probably either Brussels or Berlin—the time, October. An appropriation of $80,000 was made in the sundry civil bill to defray the expenses of the United States commissioners.

Septuagenarian Suicides.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—A German farmer by the name of Wasserfallen, aged seventy-five years, who has been making his home with his son-in-law, Samuel Rentsch, two miles east of this city, suicided Saturday by hanging himself with a rope. The old man has for some time past been threatening to take his life on account of the quarreling in his family as to the disposition of his property.

ON ACCOUNT OF CATTLE.

The Cherokee Strip to Be Cleared, But Serious Trouble Expected.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Aug. 8.—Governor Seay has received a telegram from C. F. Davis, inspector of the interior department at Arkansas City, saying that the commander at Fort Reno had been ordered by the secretary of war to remove all the cattle from the Cherokee Strip, and that Governor Humphrey, of Kansas, had ordered the sheriffs of all border counties to keep all cattle out of the state.

Governor Seay at once telegraphed instructions to all sheriffs that an attempt may be made to drive a portion of them through the territory and to prevent this at all hazards. An armed posse is already on duty at each county line and every cow that crosses into Oklahoma will be killed.

Can Not Suffer the Loss.

END, I. T., Aug. 8.—The leading cattle owners say they will sign their stock over to the Cherokee Indians before they will suffer the severe loss in making the long drive to western Texas. In view of the fact that the Cherokee nation and barons are not now on the best of terms it is a matter of conjecture whether this can be done.

Fatally Kicked by a Horse.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 8.—Charles Heimle, a well known and wealthy German farmer, living near Gahanna, this county, was fatally kicked by a horse Saturday. He had been in the city, and, driving home, passed under the Scioto Valley railroad tracks. Near the children's home, in the eastern part of town, the horse became frightened and ran away. Heimle was thrown out and the horse kicked him in the stomach, injuring him fatally.

Careless Doctor.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—At East Chicago late Saturday evening, Mr. Ingram, superintendent of the horse shoe works, lost his life through the carelessness of Dr. Cole. Mr. Ingram, Louis Barr and Dr. Cole attended a show, and later the doctor invited them to his office. In some manner he gave carbolic acid to his guests. The doctor also drank, and at present is in a critical condition. Mr. Barr is out of danger. Ingram died instantly.

Outside the Fire Limits.

OTTUMWA, Ia., Aug. 8.—The seven buildings composing the Kerr ventilated barrel and box factory were destroyed by fire yesterday. The factory was outside the fire limits and the pump furnishing the water supply gave out at a critical moment. The loss is $70,000, with insurance of less than half.

Will Not Save Kansas Corn.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 8.—The cool winds that are sweeping over the southwest will not save the corn of Kansas. It will probably keep the corn from burning up any further, but at best the crop will not exceed half the estimated yield.

Electricity for Deaf Mutes.

One of the recent medical applications of electricity is in the treatment of deafness. The apparatus for this purpose comprises a battery, a belt, an electrode supporter on the belt and shaped to rest on the ear, and connections between the electrode and the battery. This provides a convenient and efficient mode of receiving the current, which can be applied in finely graduated strength.

Superintendent Johnson, of the Deaf and Dumb institute at Indianapolis, is reported as having found in a series of experiments that the phonograph concentrates the sound at the drum of the ear in such a way that many of the pupils, otherwise deaf, are thus enabled to hear. Out of fifty-six boys and girls, only three girls were unable to hear anything at all, while forty could hear music and twenty-six could distinguish spoken words.—New York Telegram.

Snakes Used by Charmers.

Cobras are selected by the so called snake charmers of both Egypt and India for their performances. The Egyptian charmers sometimes pretend to change the serpent into a rod, and according to Geoffrey St. Hilaire, this appearance can be induced by giving a strong squeeze to the animal's neck, which induces a convulsive rigidity from which the animal soon recovers. It need hardly be said that the snake charmers always carefully extract the fangs of the snakes they use.—Quarterly Review.

Johnny's Mind Dissatisfied.

Mr. Fizzletop was under the painful necessity of administering a severe castigation to his son Johnny. After he had completed his labors he said sternly to the suffering victim:

"Now tell me why I punished you."

"That's it," sobbed Johnny; "you nearly put the life out of me and now you don't even know why you did it."—Exchange.
